CS MINDFULNESS

Today in CS we learned html,css and js. These are important to programmers because they each do something different and can help us. Html do the coding while css makes it look good and js does the animation. These things are important to know because it is what all programmers use.

html, css and js